

Zone 5 inner

Section 15: Berrylands to Norbiton

Distance: 1.87 mi, 2.99 km

Introduction

This is a very short section. It includes a stretch along a cycle track and a minor road, which also belongs to the London Loop, a visit to a cemetery, and an exploration of a large housing estate.

There are places to eat in Norbiton.

Directions

Leave Berrylands station on the north side, by platform 1, and turn left along the cycle track.

Keep going when it becomes a road.

Just before the main road at the end, turn right along a track.

Go straight ahead across the next road.

Turn left then right, and enter Athelstan Recreation Ground through the yellow gate.

Carry on along the left-hand edge of the recreation ground, and leave through another yellow gate by the far corner.

Carry on along the main road, crossing the Hogsmill and Hogsmill Lane.

Take the next right, which is Dawson Lane, and carry on into Kingston Cemetery and Crematorium.

Turn left on the tarmac at the T junction.

Take the next turning right on the tarmac.

Keep on the main track, up a gentle slope, followed by several bends, finally leaving the cemetery through the exit on the left.

Turn right, then immediately take the footpath on the left before the chicane.

Keep straight ahead down two short flights of steps.

At the end, turn right then immediately left along another footpath.

At the end, turn right through staggered barriers.

Turn left just before another pair of staggered barriers.

Bear left, turn right up a flight of steps, and left at the top.

Cross the main road, and go up a flight of steps on the other side.

Pass under the arch of Cambridge Gardens, then bear right.

After a black barrier, turn left and follow the road round to the right.

Keep straight ahead until you reach Norbiton station on the right.